THE SOLUTION OF OVERCROWDED TRAFFIC

Nowaday, there are alot of cars on British road and they have increased day to day. By the year 2000 there may be as many as 29 million vehicles on British roads. In this essay, I intend to examine, about, the solutions of these problems.

Firstly, the people living in Britain need to think about themselves. If they used the bus and train instead of their car, this problem would resolve a little. Because of this, the British Government should introduce to control car ownership and use. For example, the government can ban to enter the road by car in the sameday all family from a house.

Secondly, the buses and trains of government should be free for public population. Thus, the people would use these transport vehicles instead of their own car. After that, the roads in Britain would be ~~more~~ safer and more comfortable.

Lastly, ~~the export~~ the number of cars that are exported from another country should decrease, and the prices of car should increased incase they aren't overcrowded. For example, the prices of cigarettes increased and the consumption of cigarettes went down.

In conclusion, If these measures put into action the problem of traffic can be decreased in the British roads.

Band 5

The answer is short at just over 200 words and thus loses marks for content. There are some relevant arguments but these are not very well developed and become unclear in places. The organisation of the answer is evident through the use of fairly simple connectives but there are problems for the reader in that there are many missing words and word order is often incorrect. The structures are quite ambitious but often faulty and vocabulary is kept quite simple.
